

Brief Biography

Craig D. Cox, PharmD, FCCP, BCPS
Professor, Pharmacy Practice & Division Head – Medicine
Regional Dean – Lubbock Campus
Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center
Jerry H. Hodge School of Pharmacy
craig.cox@ttuhsc.edu

Biography (200 words):

Craig D. Cox, Pharm.D., is a professor of pharmacy practice, regional dean for the Lubbock campus, and division head for adult medicine at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center Jerry H. Hodge School of Pharmacy (TTUHSC SOP). He has been on the faculty for 24 years, and for 18 years he served as the Vice Chair of Experiential Programs. He received his Pharm.D. from Washington State University and completed a critical care residency at TTUHSC SOP in Amarillo. Dr. Cox provides clinical pharmacy services on the adult medicine ward at University Medical Center. He has served as the preceptor for more than 400 students and residents on six-week rotations. He has also provided numerous presentations focused on experiential education both in the United States and abroad. Dr. Cox has a passion in self-discovery and team development. He led the rollout of EQi-2.0 (emotional intelligence assessment) at his School of Pharmacy, while serving as a consultant for other health profession programs. He has been elected to different national leadership positions with the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy (AACP). In 2022 Dr. Cox began a three-year Presidential term with AACP and is currently the Immediate Past President of the Association.

Biography (50 words):

Craig D. Cox, Pharm.D., is a professor of pharmacy practice, regional dean, and division head for medicine at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center Jerry H. Hodge School of Pharmacy. He has been on faculty for 24 years and is currently the Immediate Past President of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.